Dear Colleagues

Welcome to the twenty first annual Infectious Diseases Update.

We are pleased to be presenting this year International Medicine & Tropical Diseases. With the help of our organizing committee we have gathered together an excellent group of presenters. These speakers will bring you up to date on the latest developments in a wide number of relevant and timely Infectious Diseases issues that you may encounter in the out-patient, hospital and clinic settings.

At Nova Clinical Services we strive to provide quality Continuing Medical Education for the health care provider at an affordable fee. Please share your thoughts and observations about this conference on the evaluation form provided. Through your feedback we can continue to address the learning needs of the medical population in an appropriate and timely fashion.

Mark your calendars now for these 2019 educational events:

- Internal Medicine in Primary Care March 2, 2019
- Infectious Diseases Update November 8 & 9, 2019

As information becomes available on these events you can view the topics and speakers on our web site at: www.novaclinical.com

I hope you enjoy what should prove to be an informative and stimulating two days in the field of Infectious Diseases.

Sincerely
